Hello, Camtra sisters and comrades!

In 2025, Camtra celebrated its 28th anniversary. Since then, I have devoted my strength and energy to consolidating a feminist, anti-racist, non-lesbophobic and non-ableist organization.

We are living through times of war on all fronts, while nature is demanding a reckoning for everything we have taken from it. At the same time, thousands of civil society organizations (CSOs) are fighting for a range of causes related to the rights of women, Black women, Indigenous women, Quilombola women, women with disabilities, and many others, making a difference in the face of tyranny. Reaching the eve of our 30th anniversary means that we have much to learn from and much to be grateful for. No one passes through CAMTRA without being touched by its simple, grassroots way of working — going where girls and women are.

For this reason, through all the comings and goings, we continue to believe in face-to-face engagement: meeting women where they are — in their workplaces, schools, universities and other spaces — building relationships, staying present, and co-creating forms of connection and solidarity that foster trust and the development of new multipliers. This is how CAMTRA continues to renew itself.

We would like to thank our team, the Camtra coordination, and our partners, including Fondo de Acción Urgente (UAF-LA), CAMP, CEDAPS, FASE/SAAP, the Global Fund for Women, Ford Foundation, Fundo Elas, the UN Trust Fund, OAK Foundation, and Fundação Redistribuir. You have contributed to the struggle for the rights of women, Black women, lesbian women, Indigenous women, and women with disabilities.

Thank you very much! Here's to 2026!

ANNUAL PLANNING

CAMTRA organizes and plans its activities on a semester-by-semester basis together with its team. Activities include the Rights Tents, training workshops held at the invitation of partner organizations, and activities carried out as part of its projects, among other initiatives.

In February 2025, CAMTRA held a planning meeting for its activities for the first semester. The entire team came together to contribute ideas and share experiences.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING (AGM)

Every year, CAMTRA holds its Annual General Meeting to report to its members, reaffirming its commitment to democratic participation and transparency.

On October 24, CAMTRA held its Annual General Meeting to present the financial accounts for the 2024 fiscal year. Our members came together online to follow the presentation of the Fiscal Council's opinion, the 2024 Activities Report, as well as updates on the main projects underway and new opportunities for support.

The meeting reaffirmed the organization's commitment to democratic participation and transparency.

March 8th-International Women's Day

For CAMTRA, March 8 is a political date. Since 1998, our Rosas e Direitos (Roses and Rights) initiative, through the distribution of roses and information on rights, has paid tribute to women who experience oppression on a daily basis and whose voices and experiences are rendered invisible in our society.

This initiative serves as a bridge for establishing dialogue with women workers, showing them that we stand together in the struggle for our rights.

Rosas e Direitos puts our mission as a feminist organization into practice: going out to meet women workers where they are. It is deeply rewarding to know that many of the women who reach out to us throughout the year seeking information first learned about our work through this initiative.

Rosas e Direitos

Our March 8 began early in the morning with the distribution of roses, CAMTRA's 2025 calendar, and informational materials on the rights of women workers passing through Central do Brasil.

Next, we held our Rights Tent and went to greet the Saara multipliers — women working in retail and street vendors.

At the end of the day, we joined hundreds of our sisters and comrades for the International Women's Day demonstration.

CAMTRA'S ANNIVERSARY

Camtra 28 years old!

CASA DA MULHER TRABALHADORA

CAMTRA celebrated its 28th anniversary at the Rights Tent in the SAARA area, in downtown Rio de Janeiro. After 28 years of struggle and resistance for women's rights, CAMTRA has consolidated itself as a feminist, anti-racist, non-lesbophobic and non-ableist organization. These have been many years of learning and gratitude. We continue to pursue our mission of reaching out to women and contributing to the promotion of their rights and the strengthening of their autonomy.

FEMINIST TRAINING: Mulheres em Rede

Women in Network: Promoting Care and Economic Autonomy

The Mulheres em Rede project aims to build a network of women multipliers to promote women’s autonomy in six Brazilian states — Rio de Janeiro, Rio Grande do Sul, Acre, Pará, São Paulo, and Bahia. Through civic education and technical training, the project seeks to create conditions for women’s financial autonomy within a care-centered environment. It does so by planning actions that bring together efforts to address violence against women, promote economic autonomy, and strengthen the National Care Policy, recognizing that care is central to life in society but has historically been rendered invisible and assigned primarily to women.

The project is supported by the Ministry of Women and implemented by CAMP in partnership with CAMTRA. It focuses on Black women from marginalized communities, domestic workers and caregivers, women engaged in the solidarity economy, Indigenous women living in urban areas, Quilombola women, and women from social movement organizations.

The first in-person meeting to plan the project’s activities lasted two days (see photos alongside) and took place on July 1 and 2.

On September 22, we held the project’s first in-person meeting with the multipliers and educators (see the final image alongside). The program included a panel discussion on the National Care Policy with Lara Amora; a presentation on the principles of the Solidarity Economy with Daniela Tolfo; and a presentation on the Maria da Penha Law with Eleutéria Amora, along with many opportunities for exchanging experiences and planning the project’s activities. Let’s do this together!

The following day, we officially launched the project at the Rights Tent in Saara. Check out the photos!

REDE DE MULHERES ENTRELAÇADAS (Interwoven Women's Network)

The Rede de Mulheres Entrelaçadas por Sustentabilidade is made up of organizations and collectives of Black, Indigenous, and women from marginalized communities across several Brazilian states — Acre, Rio Grande do Sul, Rio de Janeiro, São Paulo, Roraima, and Pará — who came together during the COVID-19 pandemic to provide food supplies, hygiene products, and information, with the aim of alleviating suffering in their communities.

We believe that collective action is essential to advancing our struggle for justice and that each and every one of us has the right to exist. Through the network, we are continually expanding our reach.

12TH GATHERING OF YOUNG WOMEN FIGHTING FOR THEIR RIGHTS

Since its inception, CAMTRA has invested in educating and empowering young women to defend their rights through immersive gatherings that contribute to their political education, encourage their leadership and agency, and foster networks of young women who act as multipliers of information and strategies for addressing violence. The 12th Gathering was held as part of the “Young Women and Art for Ending Violence Against Girls and Women” project, supported by the United Nations Trust Fund to End Violence against Women.

The project’s central aim is to address violence against girls and women aged 13 to 29 living in low-income rural and urban areas across five Brazilian states (São Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Rio Grande do Sul, Acre, and Pará), through exchange, dialogue, and artistic expression that will be transformed into campaigns to end violence. The creation of a network of young women is expected by the end of the four-year project. CAMTRA was the only project from Brazil selected through the UN Trust Fund’s call for proposals!

The gathering took place from December 12 to 14, 2025. Fifty young women were selected, with great care and responsibility at every stage of the process, following the project’s selection criteria. The participants took part in three immersive days at the Hotel Scorial, in Catete, Rio de Janeiro. The activities were planned and facilitated by veteran members of the Young Women’s Group, under the coordination of Eleutéria Amora, CAMTRA’s General Coordinator.

12TH GATHERING OF YOUNG WOMEN FIGHTING FOR THEIR RIGHTS

On the second day, we held two Conversation Circles. The first focused on racism: “The Everyday Racism We Each Experience — at School, at Work, on the Street, and Elsewhere,” facilitated by Alaiane dos Santos (pictured on the right).

The second Conversation Circle addressed Sexual and Reproductive Rights: “A Child Is Not a Mother – Sexual and Reproductive Rights,” with Clara Albuquerque and Laura Molinari. Alaiane and Clara are veteran members of CAMTRA’s Young Women’s Group, while Laura Molinari is a member of @nempresanemorta.

To close the day, we had a dance performance and class by Cia de Dança Fluir.

On the third and final day of the gathering, participants took part in the “Creative Writing: Escrivência as an Act of Listening and Existence” workshop, led by Aniele Marinho (@anielemarinho), a social educator, writer, and speaker.

This was followed by the Conversation Circle “The Politics of Care: Paid and Unpaid Work — How Do These Two Dimensions Impact Our Lives?”, with @iaraamora, a veteran member of CAMTRA’s Young Women’s Group.

Finally, we held the Conversation Circle “A Life Free from Violence Is a Right for Girls and Women,” with @thabaragarcia, a veteran member of the Young Women’s Group.

After an intense weekend immersed in art and women’s rights, the young women returned home strengthened and ready for the daily struggle for a world free from violence against girls and women.

SEXUAL AND REPRODUCTIVE RIGHTS

In May 2025, CAMTRA took part in two protests against Bill No. 2,486/2023. We will continue fighting for sexual and reproductive rights!

City Council: May 8

CAMTRA took part in a mobilization at the City Council against Bill No. 2,486/2023 (PL 2486/2023), which would require anti-abortion posters to be displayed in hospitals and healthcare institutions. In addition to being unconstitutional, the bill attacks the legally protected right to abortion, particularly affecting children who are victims of sexual violence and rape and their access to these services.

Meanwhile, Bill No. 2,620/2023 (PL 2620/23) would prohibit children and adolescents under the age of 16 from attending or participating in LGBTQIA+ Pride events held in the city of Rio de Janeiro. The proposal provides that, in cases of non-compliance, organizers of any public event, march, parade, or demonstration would be subject to a fine of R$5,000 for each child or adolescent present at the event.

Convinced that only popular mobilization can stop this violence against girls and women, we will continue the struggle to prevent this setback.

City Council: May 28

On May 28, International Day of Action for Women's Health and National Day of Action to Reduce Maternal Mortality, CAMTRA went to the Rio de Janeiro City Council to express our strong condemnation of the passage of Bill No. 2,486/2023, which requires hospitals in the city to display posters containing false information about abortion and aims to discourage access to the procedure, including in cases of sexual violence.

In addition to the action on the steps of the City Council, we formally submitted a manifesto opposing the bill to the President of the City Council, Carlo Caiado (PSD), who was not there to receive us. We also attempted to deliver a funeral wreath, symbolizing our mourning in the face of this so-called "public policy," which denies people in need access to healthcare. However, the President's office refused to accept it.

A staff member from the Office of the President claimed that the wreath symbolized death and that this was disrespectful, disregarding the fact that this bill represents precisely that for the people of Rio de Janeiro.

SEXUAL AND REPRODUCTIVE RIGHTS-2

SEPTEMBER 28

In 2025, we witnessed serious setbacks and attacks on women's reproductive rights. Bill No. 2,886/2024 (PL 2886/2024), which establishes a "Municipal Week to Combat Abortion," was approved by the Rio de Janeiro City Council on November 11. One month earlier, in October, women's reproductive rights faced another serious attack: the approval by the Senate's Human Rights Committee (CDH) of a bill that would prohibit abortion after the 22nd week of pregnancy, including in cases of rape, risk to the pregnant woman's life, or fetal anencephaly.

The measure removes protections already recognized under Brazilian law and by the Federal Supreme Court (STF), imposing restrictions that could force women and girls who are victims of sexual violence to carry unwanted pregnancies to term.

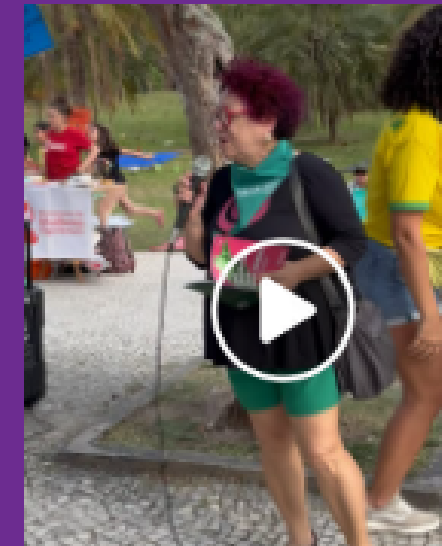

CAMTRA advocates for legal, safe, and free abortion as a right and as a means of protecting women's lives. On September 28, when we mark the Latin American and Caribbean Day for the Decriminalization and Legalization of Abortion, CAMTRA launched the second, revised and updated edition of the book "A Secret Among Women: Legislation on the Sexual and Reproductive Rights of Latin American and Caribbean Women."

We held a Rights Tent to mark September 28 and took part in the demonstration at Aterro do Flamengo.

Legal, safe, and free abortion is a right that protects women's lives!

SEXUAL AND REPRODUCTIVE RIGHTS-3

A CHILD IS NOT A MOTHER!!!

November 11

CAMTRA took part in the demonstration against the approval of PDL 3/2025, which weakens protections for children and adolescents who are victims of violence. The demonstration took place in Cinelândia on November 11.

The aim of the PDL is to overturn Resolution 258 of the National Council for the Rights of Children and Adolescents, which establishes guidelines for the provision of care to girls and adolescents who need to access abortion after rape.

December 07

Enough silence, enough fear. Our lives matter, our voices matter, and together we are unstoppable.

For 28 years, CAMTRA has fought to defend women's rights. So it was only natural for us to take to the streets alongside the women who filled Copacabana to say: Stop killing us! We want to live!

COP30 BELÉM 2025

The 30th United Nations Climate Change Conference (COP30) was held in the city of Belém, in the state of Pará, from November 10 to 21, 2025.

The main issues addressed at the event included the energy transition, climate finance, the preservation of the Amazon, and commitments to reduce deforestation.

The event featured a Blue Zone, dedicated to official negotiations, and a Green Zone, focused on civil society, Indigenous peoples, and NGOs. CAMTRA was present. See our participation.

CAMTRA General Coordinator Eleutéria Amora participated in the panel “Women of Latin America in Network: Environmentalists, Feminists, Black and Indigenous Women United for Care and Buen Vivir,” held at COP30 in Belém. Also participating were Ana Cruz and Luiza Schafer, from CAMP, and Núbia Alencar, an educator with the Mulheres em Rede: Promoting Care and Economic Autonomy project.

The activity was organized by Fundación Socioambiental Semilla, the Central de Mujeres Indígenas Roboré CICHAR, CAMTRA, CAMP, and the Latin American Network of Environmentalist Women, as part of the program of the NGO House, an initiative of ABONG.

Click on the image to the right to watch an excerpt from the opening.

INTERNATIONAL SEMINAR “COUNTING THE HOURS AND MEASURING CARE: METHODOLOGIES AND APPLICATIONS OF TIME-USE SURVEYS”

The event, held in September 2025 in Rio de Janeiro by the Brazilian Institute of Geography and Statistics (IBGE) and the Ministry of Development and Social Assistance (MDS), focused on the development of public policies to promote gender equality and on measuring unpaid domestic work. The seminar brought together experts from Brazil, Chile, and Colombia, as well as representatives of international organizations such as UN Women, the International Labour Organization (ILO), and the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC).

The main objective was to discuss and improve the metrics used to measure the time devoted to caring for others — such as children, older people, and people with disabilities — work that remains largely invisible and falls disproportionately on women.

This is an issue of great importance to women’s lives, and CAMTRA attended both days of the event, which included a tribute to Professor Hildete Pereira, who participated in one of the panels.

INTERNATIONAL SEMINAR “TOWARDS AN AFRO-LATIN AMERICAN FEMINISM”

As part of the Week for Reparation and Buen Vivir and in the context of the March of Black Women in Brasília, CAMTRA participated, on November 26, in the International Seminar “Towards an Afro-Latin American Feminism,” celebrating the legacy of Lélia Gonzalez, an icon of popular anti-racist feminism.

PARTICIPATION: NATIONAL EVENTS

CAMTRA organizes and participates in events held in connection with key dates related to women's rights. It is also invited to contribute to events addressing women's rights and related issues.

Below are some highlights from 2025.

OCCUPY ABONG

On March 28, CAMTRA hosted Ocupa ABONG, an essential preparatory event for the ABONG National Meeting, held in May. Eleutéria Amora, CAMTRA's General Coordinator, was a speaker at the event and gave an overview of the approval of Law No. 13,019/2014, which established the Civil Society Organizations Regulatory Framework (MROSC), as well as the current challenges faced by civil society organizations (CSOs) in the state of Rio de Janeiro.

ATLANTIC FOREST BIOME WORKSHOP – RIO DE JANEIRO

This workshop was part of the “Voices of the Biomes Towards COP30” Workshops, a listening process promoted by the Brazilian government in partnership with civil society and the Office of the Special Envoys of the Presidency for COP30: Janja Lula da Silva, Special Envoy for Women; Denise Dora, Special Envoy for Human Rights and a Just Transition; and Jurema Werneck, Special Envoy for Racial Equality.

The main objective was to conduct territorial listening sessions across Brazil's six biomes to gather the demands and perspectives of traditional communities, women, young people, and Indigenous peoples. These demands were then compiled to inform official negotiations and influence the guidelines of Brazil's climate agenda.

The meetings took place in several states, covering Brazil's biomes — the Amazon, Caatinga, Cerrado, Pantanal, and Atlantic Forest. Two meetings were held for the Atlantic Forest biome: one in Porto Alegre and this meeting in Rio de Janeiro, which took place on August 28.

31ST EDITION OF THE GRITO DOS EXCLUÍDOS E EXCLUÍDAS

Held on September 7, 2025, the 31st edition of the Grito dos Excluídos e Excluídas was held under the slogan “The Brazilian People Are in Charge of Brazil.” The demonstration focused on defending national sovereignty, social justice, taxing great fortunes, and addressing the climate crisis.

CAMTRA General Coordinator Eleutéria Amora and CEDAPS General Coordinator Wanda Guimarães took part in the demonstration in downtown Rio de Janeiro, which also included a collective effort to gather votes in support of the Popular Plebiscite on reducing working hours, ending the 6x1 work schedule, and taxing the super-rich.

PARTICIPATION: NATIONAL EVENTS-2

5TH NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON POLICIES FOR WOMEN

Held from September 29 to October 1 in Brasília, the conference was a historic milestone for participation and collective action in defense of women's rights. CAMTRA was represented by its General Coordinator, Eleutéria Amora.

Among the proposals approved at the conference's final plenary session were making abortion legalization a priority; combating LBTphobia; reducing working hours and ending the 6x1 work schedule; promoting equal pay; adopting gender quotas in politics and sports; and creating a National System of Policies for Women, inspired by the models of the Unified Health System (SUS) and the Unified Social Assistance System (SUAS), among other demands for greater dignity and rights for all women.

The conference brought together approximately 4,000 delegates from all Brazilian states, as well as civil society organizations and government bodies, with the aim of laying the foundations for the new federal plan. The Ministry of Women expects the new plan to be published and implemented by mid-2026.

CAMTRA General Coordinator Eleutéria Amora participated in the panel "Work, Income, Power and Care: Pathways to Women's Economic Autonomy," chaired by Rosane Silva, National Secretary for Economic Autonomy and Care Policies at the Ministry of Women (see image alongside).

BUILDING BRIDGES TOWARDS COP30: CIVIL SOCIETY, CLIMATE JUSTICE AND HUMAN RIGHTS

CAMTRA participated in this event, an initiative coordinated by the international organization Race and Equality, which was part of the debate series "COP30 and Civil Society: Knowledge and Action for Climate Advocacy." Held on October 7 and 8, the event brought together civil society organizations and international institutions with the aim of strengthening joint strategies in preparation for COP30 and developing a political statement outlining civil society's demands to be presented to the COP30 delegations.

2ND MARCH OF BLACK WOMEN FOR REPARATION AND BUEN VIVIR (LIVING WELL)

CAMTRA, represented by its General Coordinator, Eleutéria Amora, along with participants in the Mulheres em Rede project and others, took part in the 2nd March of Black Women for Reparation and Buen Vivir, which brought thousands of participants to the Esplanade of the Ministries in Brasília on November 25. Organized by the National Committee of the March of Black Women, the mobilization called for rights including housing, work, and security, as well as historical reparations for the impacts of slavery and actions to ensure a dignified life for Black women in Brazil.

PARTICIPATION: LOCAL EVENTS-1

ELAS + 25 YEARS

CAMTRA, represented by its General Coordinator, Eleutéria Amora, and Logistics Advisor, Antonia Rodrigues, participated in the ELAS+ 25 Years: More Trust + More Money + More Funding event, held on August 28. The program featured a rich exchange of ideas and conversations on philanthropy, the culture of giving, and social investment. It was a powerful gathering celebrating organizations led by cisgender and transgender women, as well as people of other trans identities.

IGUÁ SANEAMENTO SOCIAL ACTION

On December 6, CAMTRA General Coordinator Eleutéria Amora participated in a social action in Vargem Pequena, Rio de Janeiro, at the invitation of Iguá Saneamento. Eleutéria Amora spoke with the women who attended and distributed the booklet “Violence Against Girls and Women Is Not the World We Want,” as well as male and female condoms.

CEPIA'S 35TH ANNIVERSARY

On December 3, CAMTRA, represented by its General Coordinator, Eleutéria Amora, took part in the celebrations marking CEPIA's 35th anniversary. We wish CEPIA continued success in its journey, after more than 30 years of work defending human rights and strengthening the citizenship and rights of groups that have traditionally been excluded.

PARTICIPATION: LOCAL EVENTS - 2

WOMEN AGAINST TRANSNATIONAL CORPORATIONS MEETING APRIL 28 - CAMPOS DOS GOYTACAZES

The World March of Women in Campos dos Goytacazes, Rio de Janeiro, organized this event as part of the activities of the 6th International Action of the World March of Women (WMW). Organized in partnership with social movements, trade unions, progressive political parties, and universities, the meeting took place in the 5th District of São João da Barra, a territory devastated by the transnational corporation OSX Brasil for the construction of the Port of Açu.

It was a day filled with exchanges and debates, including a shared lunch, a feminist música and drumming session, interventions, and contributions from women leaders from the region, who spoke about the impacts of transnational corporations on women's lives. They highlighted the importance of April 24 as the International Feminist Solidarity Day Against Transnational Corporations, a date that serves as a reference point for denouncing the exploitation and destruction of our bodies and territories by the capitalist system and through the (in)visible hands of transnational corporations.

It was an important moment of feminist and anti-capitalist struggle and resistance.

THE IMPORTANCE OF WOMEN'S STRUGGLES AND HISTORICAL AND CONTEMPORARY CHALLENGES

The Legião da Boa Vontade (LBV), Rio de Janeiro unit, invited CAMTRA to give this talk, with an emphasis on the experiences of Black, peripheral, community-based, and LGBTQIAPN+ women. The activity took place on June 6 at the LBV headquarters in downtown Rio de Janeiro.

CAMTRA General Coordinator Eleutéria Amora gave a presentation to 18 leaders working in different areas of the Brazilian Unified Social Assistance System (SUAS), including child protection councilors, community leaders, and activists, who are currently undergoing training to work with people experiencing homelessness.

The aim of the meeting was to provide a space for reflection, strengthening, and the collective development of strategies to address the various forms of oppression affecting women, particularly those at the intersection of gender, race, class, and sexual orientation.

WORLD DAY AGAINST TRAFFICKING IN PERSONS

The awareness-raising action was held at Carioca Station on the MetrôRio network on July 30.

The Blue Heart Campaign is a global initiative of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) aimed at raising public awareness and combating trafficking in persons. The symbol represents the sadness of victims and serves as a reminder of traffickers' lack of compassion.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN: CRIMES OF PATRIARCHY

The Crimes do Patriarcado research is conducted and published monthly by CAMTRA with the aim of preserving the memory of women who have been victims of femicide in Brazil, as well as strengthening resistance and seeking justice for them and their families.

The dates presented do not always correspond to the exact date of the femicide, but rather to the preliminary information available to us.

The research does not cover all cases that occurred during the month, as many cases take longer to come to light or be resolved.

We are fully aware that we cannot account for every girl and woman who has lost her life. However, we do this out of a commitment to justice and to preserving the memory of the victims, so that we do not forget the ongoing violence to which we are subjected. For all of them. Present!

CRIMES ANALOGOUS TO SLAVERY

aqui),

Since 2022, when CAMTRA published the study Domestic Women Workers and Work Analogous to Slavery (download it here), we have continued to research cases reported in the media, verifying sources and publishing and raising awareness of these cases through our social media channels.

These cases involve rural women workers, Indigenous women, and migrant women who continue to be subjected to exhausting working hours, unlawful confinement, unsafe and unhealthy working conditions, and violence.

From cooperatives to illegal mining operations and luxury residential complexes, the rescue of people living in slavery-like conditions reveals the cruel face of exploitation in Brazil. For this reason, CAMTRA continues to document these cases and denounce them: every woman rescued is a warning that contemporary slavery still exists — and must end!

WOMEN'S WORK: RESEARCH

HOW MANY ARE WE?

MAPPING WOMEN WORKERS IN SAARA

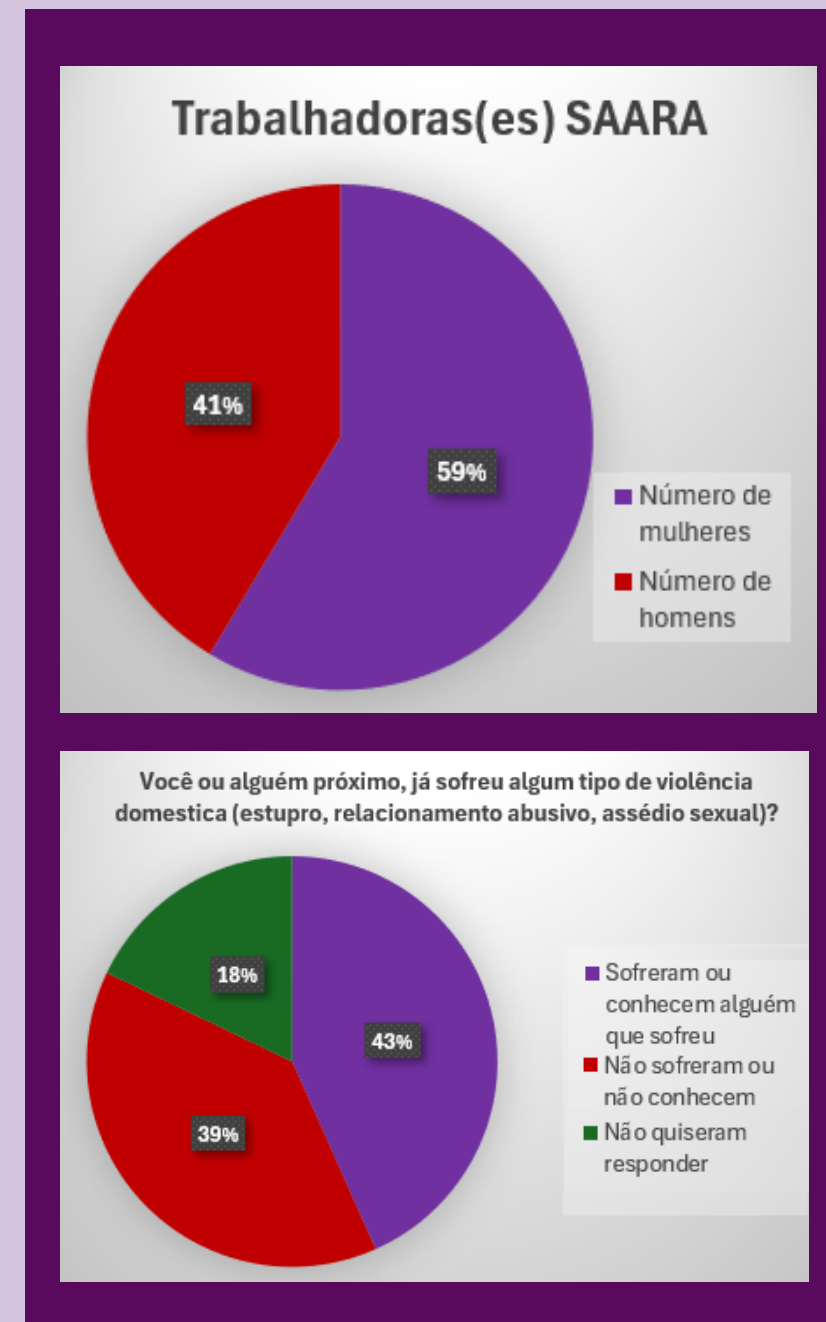

The How Many Are We? research was designed and conducted by CAMTRA between March and May 2025. Its main objective was to assess the presence of women and understand their social and working conditions in the SAARA commercial district (Sociedade de Amigos das Adjacências da Rua da Alfândega), located in downtown Rio de Janeiro. The research also mapped:

- Demographic Mapping: To identify the number of women workers and the roles they perform in local businesses.
- Health Prevention and Education: To assess women workers' interest in and engagement with acting as multipliers to distribute educational and preventive materials on Sexually Transmitted Infections (STIs/HIV/AIDS).
- Addressing Violence Against Women: To identify reported cases of domestic violence, rape, abusive relationships, and sexual harassment, whether experienced by the interviewees themselves or by people in their social circles.
- Institutional Recognition: To assess the target population's level of awareness of CAMTRA's work in the area.

A total of 732 establishments — including shops, bazaars, and other businesses — were visited in the SAARA area. The fieldwork covered nine strategic streets and avenues: Rua da Alfândega, Rua Buenos Aires, Rua Senhor dos Passos, Rua Regente Feijó, Rua Gonçalves Ledo, Rua da Conceição, Rua dos Andradas, Avenida Passos, and Avenida República do Líbano. The research sample demonstrates significant representation of the area: the SAARA commercial district comprises between 700 and 1,000 active establishments, with overall estimates ranging from 800 to 1,200 stores, distributed across 12 public thoroughfares.

CAMTRA has been working in SAARA since 1999 through the Rights Tent. This research is particularly important for gaining a better understanding of the realities of the many women who work in SAARA and for strengthening and improving CAMTRA's work with these women workers

An initial sample of the research can be viewed here. CAMTRA will publish a complete infographic on its website, www.camtra.org.br, featuring a detailed analysis of the findings.

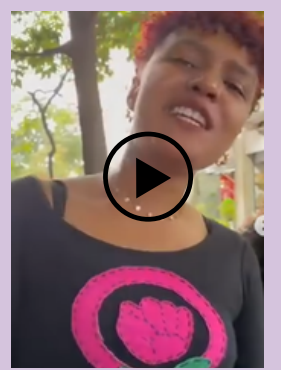

In addition to visiting more than 700 shops, bazaars, and galleries in the area, our interviewers distributed approximately 4,500 bags containing information kits, 41,000 male condoms, 2,000 female condoms, and 1,000 units of lubricant gel.

After more than two months of intensive work, with the fieldwork phase completed, CAMTRA organized a trip to Paquetá Island as a celebration marking the end of the first stage of the research. The event brought together the team of interviewers and CAMTRA General Coordinator

Eleutéria Amora.

See a record of this moment below. You can also see images of the interviewers at work in SAARA (left) and, below, testimonials about the research.

Camtra Indica

CAMTRA produced a dedicated agenda for Julho das Pretas (Black Women’s July). Among its various activities, CAMTRA Indica highlighted Black women who have shaped and continue to shape Black feminist literature (see images on the left). On July 11, CAMTRA held a live online discussion on the 2nd March of Black Women, featuring Clatia Oliveira, from the Rio de Janeiro State Forum of Black Women, and Avanir Carvalho Pontes, General Coordinator of the São Gonçalo Forum of Black Women and Coordinator of the MNU/São Gonçalo. The discussion was moderated by CAMTRA General Coordinator Eleutéria Amora. It was a moment of exchange, struggle, and collective organizing for the future we want! The March strengthens the demands and agendas of Black women and mobilizes Brazil around social justice and Buen Vivir.

FEMINIST SOLIDARITY

CLAUDIA SHEINBAUM
President of Mexico

Mexican President Claudia Sheinbaum was sexually harassed while taking part in a public event and greeting supporters in downtown Mexico City on Wednesday, November 5. A video posted on social media shows a man approaching her, touching the Mexican leader's breasts and attempting to kiss her. It was only after the incident that a security guard intervened and moved the man away. Sheinbaum expressed her dismay over what happened and said she would take legal action against the perpetrator.

CATHERINE CONNOLLY
President of Ireland

Independent left-wing candidate Catherine Connolly was elected President of Ireland with 63.4% of the vote on October 25, in a strong rejection of the center-right coalition recently re-elected to govern the country.

At 68, Connolly is a veteran parliamentarian from the far-left of Ireland's political spectrum and was backed by the predominantly left-wing opposition. Initially underestimated by many at the start of the presidential race, she gained momentum as the campaign progressed, energized younger voters, and was elected by a landslide.

CLARA CHARF
Historic Brazilian political activist

Clara Charf, a historic Brazilian political activist, died at the age of 100 on November 3. She began her political activism in the Brazilian Communist Party (PCB) at the age of 21 and became a member of the National Liberation Alliance (ANL). In 1964, she was one of the first women to have her political rights revoked by the military dictatorship.

Charf went into exile in 1969 following the assassination of her husband, Carlos Marighella, and lived in Cuba for ten years. She returned to Brazil after the Amnesty Law was enacted and was one of the founders of the Workers' Party (PT), where she worked in the Women's Secretariat and the International Relations Secretariat, with a longstanding commitment to the rights of women and women workers.
